

ZR-3 IS WELCOMED TO NEW HOMELAND

BIG DIRIGIBLE LANDS AT LAKEHURST AFTER TRANS-ATLANTIC TRIP

Crowds at Air Station Give Excited Ovation As Giant Cruiser Swings Lazily to Mast—Bag Circles Field Before Landing.

Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 15.—The ZR-3's spectacular flight from Friedrichshafen, Germany, is Lakehurst, N. J., which was successfully ended here today upon the arrival of the World's largest passenger-carrying dirigible, was made with the ease of a cross country trip on a railroad train, and no hardships of any kind were encountered. Americans and Germans who made the trip, in interviews with International News Service, stated after they landed, "A wonderful, never to be forgotten trip" was the characterization of the commander of the long cigar-shaped dirigible, Dr. Hugo Eckener, "a trip that will live in history."

Eckener estimated that the ship traveled 5,066 miles since it left Friedrichshafen last Sunday morning at 6:35 a. m. She arrived here at 9:52 o'clock this morning, according to ZR-3's official log, making the trip in 81 hours and 17 minutes when allowance is made for the six hours difference in time between Friedrichshafen and Lakehurst.

Equally pleased and apparently equally as proud of the ZR-3's achievement was Lieutenant Commander Sidney M. Kraus, U. S. navy.

Shortly after he landed with the other 32 passengers on the ZR-3, Lieutenant Kraus luxuriously inhaled a cigarette, the first he had smoked since early Sunday morning, and talked with a smile on his face and a look of pride in his eyes.

"It was 81 hours and 17 minutes of solid comfort," Lieut. Kraus declared. "The ship was extremely well handled and everybody came through trip top aside from one mechanic who got a slight heart attack."

"We ran our four engines continuously on the last day and a half, we used all five engines," he continued. "Our greatest altitude was above New York when we rose to a height of 12,000 feet in order to let our gas cells equalize when we came down at Lakehurst."

"We circled over the city twice and looked things over."

"No, we couldn't hear what the people were saying about us."

"Coming down the eastern coast of the United States, we made up lost time, like a railroad train, averaging 50 to 90 knots an hour."

"How did I sleep? Like a night watchman. Yes, thank you I will have one of your cigarettes."

Captain F. A. Lehmann, the navigating officer, said:

"The most characteristic impression left in my mind is the safety and ease with which it seems possible to me, more now than ever for dirigibles the biggest ocean liner in the air, to take into account the most treacherous storms and to stand if it must the most violent gusts and squalls and stresses if we have under our feet a good and solid and reliable Zeppelin airship like the ZR-3 which has proven its trustworthiness and dependability to me beyond all doubt."

Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 15.—Shining in the sunlight, the great silver coated dirigible ZR-3 soared majestically into the Lakehurst landing field at 9:17 o'clock this morning completing her epochal 4,200 mile trip across the Atlantic from Friedrichshafen, Germany.

The big cigar shaped air liner did not land immediately but floated aloft like a lazy whale, as if taking her time for a spot to descend. Mighty cheers went up from the throng gathered at the landing field, and strung along the highways to witness the historic event.

Airplanes circled this "queen of the air," careful to keep at a distance out of respect for the highly explosive hydrogen in the ZR-3's gas bags.

From the gondolas of the pudgy, fish-shaped air liner, two or three of the thirty two aboard could be seen waving greetings to the crowds below. In their excitement, many of the husky "gobs" and marines, comprising the landing crew of 400 that were to "walk" the ship to her hangar, forgot to stand at attention and gave forth a lusty cheer.

Meanwhile the history making ZR-3 with its complement of thirty-two men four American army and navy officers and twenty-eight German officers and crew continued to proudly circle the field, noting the landing signals displayed in giant letters on the ground below.

As the ZR-3 soared above in the air, her silvery sides glistening and her powerful motors thrumming to a beat

OHIO RIVER BRIDGE COLLAPSES

ECKENER GREETES ZR-3'S NEW OWNERS

New York, Oct. 15.—Greetings from the German builders of the ZR-3 to the future owners of the big dirigible were transmitted to America via International News Service from Dr. Hugo Eckener, her commander, as the silvery air cruiser thrust its huge bulk through the air lanes above New York today.

A tiny parachute, wafted down from the air liner. Attached to the parachute was a bundle of letters addressed to International News Service and this signed greeting from Dr. Eckener:

"New York, we salute you! In sight of the skyline of this wonderful metropolis, the ZR-3 dips its bow and sends sincere greetings to the people of America.

"We hope and trust our trans-Atlantic flight will be the forerunner of a fruitful epoch of cordial co-operation between our two nations, developing Count Zeppelin's immortal achievements, in the conquest of the air by lighter than air craft."

"Thus we will work hand in hand at the task of bridging time and distance, bringing all nations of the earth closer together."

"Through International News Service, the commander and crew of the ZR-3 wish to convey their best wishes to the people of New York and the United States."

"(Signed) Dr. Hugo Eckener."

NEGRO MIGRATION TO BE DISCUSSED

Columbus, Oct. 15.—The sixth annual Ohio Welfare conference opened here last night in Memorial hall. More than 350 persons are attending the session. Lectures on negro migration to the north are among the features of the program. First of the daily division luncheon meetings, the conference on illegitimacy, was held at the Columbus hotel. Juvenile Judge Bostwick, Miss Vera Smith of Cleveland, Miss Ruth Workum of Cincinnati, Milton J. Mench of Columbus and P. E. Kilgore, director of state child care bureau, spoke. Dean James E. Hagerty of the college of commerce and journalism, Ohio State university, will address delegates on "A Real Legislative Program," at the session of the division of delinquents Thursday morning. A. O. Mitchell of the Associated Charities of Cleveland will speak on the negro migration this evening.

STATE TROOPERS HUNT ROBBER WHO KILLED OFFICER

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 15.—Twenty-one state troopers, armed with orders to "shoot to kill" are combing the mountains of central Pennsylvania this morning for some trace of the bank robber who held up the Abbotstown bank, took $12,000 in cash and then killed State Policeman Francis L. Haley, of this place, in escaping.

Major Lynn Adams, this morning said he had every reason to believe that the highwayman was Gerald Chapman, the $1,000,000 mail robber, who on Sunday killed a New Britain policeman while robbing a safe.

TWO KILLED WHEN AUTO HITS TROLLEY

Elyria, O., Oct. 15.—Two persons were dead here today, the result of an accident at Stop 8, Lake Avenue. The dead are Mrs. Eva Sweet, 65, and James McGrann, 40, city meter reader and manager of the Moulton Candies ball team and widely known in baseball circles.

The accident occurred at 8:30 last night. McGrann explained before he died that he became confused by the glaring lights and after striking Mrs. Sweet with his car, his auto skidded into the street car, where he sustained fatal injuries.

Authorless Kills Self.

New York, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Helen Smith Woodruff, author and playwright, committed suicide by leaping from a window of her home here. Lewis B. Woodruff, her husband, is a noted lawyer and scientist. Mrs. Woodruff, who was born at Selma, Ala., 36 years ago, suffered for several years from nervous disorders and for two years of the time was totally blind.

WIDOW OF GOVERNOR NAMED BY DEMOCRATS OF WYOMING TO RUN AS HIS SUCCESSOR

Cheyenne, Wyo., October 15.—Mrs. Nellie G. Ross, widow of Governor William B. Ross, late today was chosen unanimously to be the Democratic nominee for Governor by the Emergency Democratic State Convention, in session here. E. J. Sullivan, of Basin, was nominated unanimously to be the Republican candidate by the State Republican Convention.

When informed at the Executive Mansion of her nomination, Mrs. Ross's first words were:

"Oh, I don't know what I shall do. But after several visits by close friends and Democratic political leaders in the state she answered her would 'carry on in her husband's footsteps, if that were the desire of the Wyoming electorate.'"

"If my boys stand back of me, I guess I have nothing to fear," she added, glancing at her three sons—Ambrose and George, 21 years old, twins and students at the University

DEFEATED ARMY OVER RUNS CITY AFTER RETREAT

Chekiong Soldiers Clash With French Corps in Shanghai

Shanghai, Oct. 15.—One thousand soldiers of the defeated Chekiang army tried to rush the barrier at the French concession here.

The troops were driven back by a French machine gun corps, without bloodshed, but later they quarreled and battled among themselves and several were killed.

Disturbances of the sort most feared by Americans and foreigners since General Lu fled, lawlessness and panic among the leaderless troops, made it an anxious day in the city. The native districts were looted by Chekiang soldiers, who poured into Shanghai ahead of the advancing Kiangsu forces. Panic stricken Chinese business men are hurriedly raising money to pay expenses of the troops to their homes in the Chekiang province, to get them out of the city.

The settlement boundaries and barriers defending thousands of Americans and foreigners are heavily guarded by marines and sailors from warships. Americans outside the settlement have been advised to hurry within protection of the barriers.

A number of wounded arriving from the recent battle ground to the west reported that renewed clashes had broken out between the armed forces near Nansiang, the old concentration point for the Chekiang armies. There was considerable firing, they said. Troops commanded by Chen Yao San retreated the whole distance to Chekiang headquarters at Lungwha after the loss by the Chekiang forces of the city of Sungkiang, through the "encircling" attack of the Kiangsu allied forces. These, numbering 600 men, were the only troops at Lungwha, it was declared, during the conference of leaders that decided on the complete surrender.

Reports have been received here of fighting in the north, where the Pekin government has crossed swords with Chang Tao Lin, the Manchurian military dictator. Manchurian airplanes raiding the border cities between Chihli and Manchuria had dropped four bombs in Chinwangtao, one of which exploded in the streets in front of the quarters occupied by Wu Pei Fu, commander-in-chief of the central government armies. The commander took warning, the report stated, and at once took refuge aboard a Chinese warship in Chinwangtao harbor.

OPTIMISM ON TAP AT PARTY MEETING

Columbus, Oct. 15.—Optimism was expressed at the meeting of state Democratic leaders regarding the party's chances in Ohio in the November elections. The meeting was addressed by Governor Donahy, former Governor Cox and a number of other leaders of the party. Ways to get out the Democratic vote in the state were discussed and the prediction was made by George White of Marietta, former Democratic national committeeman, that Ohio would go Democratic this fall. A women's organization was formed.

Other speakers at the Democratic meeting included: National Committeeman E. H. Moore of Youngstown, Mrs. Bernice Pyke of Cleveland, national committeewoman; John A. O'Dwyer of Toledo and Mrs. Frank M. Gorman of Cincinnati, vice chairman of the state executive committee.

Donahy in his speech said: "I want Harry L. Davis to explain his connection with the Ohio Bell Telephone company. If I am re-elected, there'll be a real investigation of these telephone rates."

WORKMAN KILLED IN CRASH AND OTHERS MAY HAVE DIED

Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 15.—Just after a crowded street car had passed a section of the steel bridge over the Ohio river here connecting the city proper and island, collapsed at 10:30 this morning with a crash that was heard for blocks.

Albert Coulter, of Moundsville, W. Va., one of the force of thirty-five men employed in repairing the structure, was dropped fifty feet to his death. Debris is being searched and an hour after the crash it was not known whether others may have met death in the crash.

The bridge, since spring has been undergoing extensive repairs, work having progressed across the river channel and was under way on the island section this morning. Going down in the crash was 120 feet of the south side walk and supports beneath the double street car tracks.

As a result of the crash, street car traffic into the city from the island and Ohio towns is cut off, while it was stated the crash would result in an order barring local bridges to heavy truck traffic. The bridge in today's crash is owned by the Wheeling Traction Company, a subsidiary of the West Penn interests.

French Baron's Son Held at Ellis Island

PHILIPPE NOTTINGUER

Philippe Nottinguer, son of Baron Nottinguer, of France, awarded a scholarship at Harvard University by the Harvard Club of France, finally reached Boston, but only after he had been detained at Ellis Island immigration station, New York harbor, for four days, due, it is said, to a blunder. American Ambassador Herriek in Paris has taken the matter up with Washington.

PROSPERITY NOW FORESEEN BY RAIL HEADS AT MEETING

Officials Planning To Handle Peak Load Of Traffic

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Five hundred railroad officials and representatives of Great Lakes shippers were present at the Great Lakes regional advisory board conference here.

Figures submitted were declared to indicate that the railroads are entering a period of prosperity, following a depression in the earlier months of the year. Transportation lines are on an efficient basis, the reports said, with service time faster than at any time in recent years. It was stated in reports that the railroads are prepared to handle a peak load of freight traffic that may establish new records.

Increased business and motor truck transportation was referred to as a menace to railroad revenues in a report from the 19 trunk lines operating in the Great Lakes district, and danger of a coal shortage was stressed if consumers defer purchases of winter coal into the coming months.

The report stated that regular and satisfactory local train service was being made difficult in many localities because of uncertainty of passenger traffic and freight tonnage.

Reports from the anthracite carrying roads indicate that the movement of hard coal during the summer and early fall has been less than normal. It was predicted that the beginning of winter will find many householders without coal supplies and with deliveries dependent on weather and an anticipated freight congestion, unless there is a large increase in fuel orders immediately.

This will happen next spring, if at all.

McGraw, Frisch and Young will then be with us again after a protracted tour abroad and may or may not have something to contribute to the gaiety of the occasion.

Be that as it may, it is all too probable that further investigations will mark time, pending their return. You can go to the carpet with all the money you have that nothing definite will transpire with McGraw in Europe.

NEW YORK GIVES OVATION WHEN SHIP ARRIVES

Metropolis Gets Up Early When Dirigible Is Sighted Over City

Plane Sights Air Liner First—Cliff Dwellers Shout Welcome

New York, Oct. 15.—Safe over her new homeland, after a record voyage across the Atlantic and a struggle with adverse winds, which buffeted her far northward, the big dirigible ZR-3 cruised over New York early today while the city rubbed the sleep from its eyes and joined in a cheer that must have carried up to the gondolas of the huge air vessel.

Passing Boston at 4:18 a.m. the dirigible headed southward along the coast, left Newport, R. I. behind at dawn, and thence along the shore of Long Island, across the lower harbor and thence up the Hudson river, while the city shrieked its greeting.

The dirigible passed the ferry house at St. George, Staten Island at 7:45 a.m. headed toward the Statue of Liberty. She was flying low through a heavy haze. In the haze-thickened early morning light, she gleamed dully as she slid through the fog up the Hudson river.

As the big silver ship reached the end of Manhattan Island over the Hudson, she swung gracefully and pointed her nose down toward the Battery again, following Broadway as she bisected the cheering city in her course.

Wave after wave of welcoming sound rose in a crescendo of enthusiasm as the dirigible, robbed of her silver sheen by the low hanging haze, sped the length of the city toward the canyons of Wall Street. At the Battery she again turned west, swung in a great circle around lower New York and again west, toward Lakehurst.

Instead of making directly for the field, where she will be moored, the ZR-3 played around in the air lanes above New York, evidently bent on giving the eager spectators a full opportunity to see her in flight.

She swung eastward again and passed over the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn before heading west again.

Shouldering her way through the morning mists at a brisk speed, the late Zeppelin which Germany can make under the terms of the Versailles treaty, moved of triumph before heading toward Lakehurst, N. J. There the German experts who built her and brought her safely over miles of ocean, will turn her over to the United States navy.

New York was abed or just getting up when the dirigible was first sighted but news of her arrival and the paean of greeting that rose in a titan chorus from many whistles brought late risers to the streets, which quickly filled to rush hour preparations.

Windows of lofty office buildings, ordinarily not filled until their workaday inhabitants arrived two hours later, were sought as vantage points from which the canyons of the city could not shut off a view of the air traveler.

Lieutenant D. D. Watson, pilot of one of four planes sent out from Mitchell field to greet the air cruiser, was first to sight the ZR-3 in the immediate vicinity of New York. She was then over Long Island sound not far from the town of Huntington.

At that time, she was at a height of 2,000 feet and making a speed which Lieutenant Watson estimated at 72 miles an hour.

The course laid from the Azores direct to Lakehurst, was changed because of southwesterly winds which hindered the vessel's passage and the dirigible was carried far northward, first being sighted from American waters when she passed over Seal Island lightship, 18 miles west of Cape Sable, Nova Scotia, a few minutes after midnight.

A request for weather reports from Boston and Cape Cod were received at the radio station at Bar Harbor, Maine, as the ZR-3 headed south. Clear weather was reported and winds were favorable.

Through the Radio Corporation of America, the ZR-3 messaged: "Passed Steamer Robert Dollar at 9:20 p. m. She hoisted colors and number. Steamer President Harding radioed last night, tendering assistance. Thank you, Captain, we don't need help yet. We have full left for about 56 hours, half of original supply."

"Rose to 8,000 feet height at 9:30 and blew safety valve until gas cells about 80 per cent full of hydrogen. This highest, took us above lower clouds. 'Glad to go up where it is cooler. So hot last night hardly slept. Temperature 72 out, 85 inside cabin. Back to 1,000 altitude at 10:30. This airship steadiest ever seen."

Tourist Found Dead.

Danville, Ky., Oct. 15.—Frank R. Wisniewski, native of Poland, about 35 years old, was found here by the night porter of the Southern railway depot with an artery in his left arm severed. Wisniewski was well dressed and had $488 in his pockets. An honorable discharge from the United States medical corps, dated January, 1920, and a ticket from Cincinnati to Chattanooga, Tenn., were found in his clothing.

MARTIN GETS REST WHILE ARMED MEN GUARD PREMISES

While guards surrounded his home on the Stevenson Road, William Martin, colored farmer, slept for the first time Tuesday night, since a system of terrorism against him began with a visit early Sunday of masked men who ordered him to leave the community.

Sheriff's deputies, augmented by about a dozen students from Wilberforce University, spent the night at the Martin place, stationed at vantage points about the farm and buildings waiting for return of nocturnal visitors who have shot at Martin, burned his hay rick and left the man and his wife in a state of nervous terror.

Evidently fearful of possible consequences because of the heavy guard surrounding the farm, marauders left the place alone Tuesday night. Martin, upon the advice of Deputy Sheriff John Baughn, went to bed for a time Tuesday night to rest and quiet his shaken nerves.

Two tons and a half of hay in a rick on the farm owned by Wheeler Kimbro, where Martin is a tenant, were burned Monday night. Martin and his wife said that when the hay rick was fired by a man whom they saw running and whom Martin pursued, firing at him, three automobiles with the lights extinguished were standing in a lane not far from the house and between two farms which Kimbro owns. They departed at high speed as soon as the hay flared up.

CONGRESSMAN BRAND WARMLY RECEIVED ON WESTERN TOUR

Congressman Charles Brand, Urbana, who is on a speaking tour in the West for the national Republican organization, is being given an enthusiastic reception throughout the part of the country, where his speeches in behalf of the party are being widely heralded.

The Minneapolis Tribune of last Sunday quoted Congressman Brand in remarks he made in Minneapolis Saturday while on his way into Iowa for a tour of that state. The Congressman only recently returned from Europe where he spent several months studying political and economic conditions and where he made an exhaustive, close-hand study of the Dawes reparations plan.

"The acceptance of the Dawes plan increased the buying of wheat and rye and of hogs," he said. "This buying has continued until I found that in Duluth the other day there were 15,000 cars on the sidetracks and wheat extending back to the farms in North Dakota. Duluth elevators are unable to load over 1500 cars a day into vessels bound for down-lake ports as the first step in taking the grain to Europe."

Congressman Brand was scheduled for addresses in Onawa, Ia., Atlantic, Ia., Wednesday and then goes into Wisconsin for a campaign of several weeks.

At the First Methodist Church Wednesday night Dr. F. W. Stanton, the pastor, will conduct the mid-week prayer services. The topic for discussion will be, "How To Walk On Water."

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

GIFTS TO JUNIOR RED CROSS FROM FOREIGN KIDDIES ON DISPLAY

Toys made and sent by children from overseas to Junior Red Cross children in America are on display in the Commercial and Savings Bank window in Xenia.

A doll dressed in the native costume of a Yugo-Slavian school girl, and a chair made by a boy in a grade school in Italy, a character doll known and loved by all Italian children, socks knit from Red Cross yarn and letters from children in Roumania and Albania are among the pieces.

The object of the Junior Red Cross is to promote friendliness and good will among children of different countries. This is done by international correspondence through the school-children. Letters are often followed by the exchange of toys and gifts made in the schools and trade schools of foreign countries.

Bath township centralized school is the first to enroll all of its grades 100 per cent with 451 pupils. Bellbrook school is the second to enroll 100 per cent with two rooms and sixty-five pupils. More than 1000 children were enrolled in Greene County last year.

The Junior Red Cross is mothered by the chapter and information can be secured at the office in the Court House.

The front cover of the "Junior Red Cross News" the monthly publication for the month of October was made and colored by a fourteen year old child in Vienna.

W. C. T. U. HOLDS EXECUTIVE MEET

Sixty women were in attendance at the executive meeting of the Greene County Women's Christian Temperance Union which was held all day Tuesday at the home of Mrs. W. O. Custis, South Detroit Street.

Talks by Mrs. Carrie L. Flatter, county president, and Mrs. M. R. Snodgrass, who was made superintendent of the state health department of the W. C. T. U. at the recent state convention in Cincinnati featured the day. Mrs. Flatter presided at the meeting. She read the eighth chapter of Romans in the opening devotionals. Plans for the work were outlined, and it was decided that at the regular county executive meetings once every two months, two superintendents would be given charge of the program and they will be expected to outline the work in their districts.

Mrs. Flatter in her morning talk stressed loyalty to the organization and its principles, duty to God and to man.

Mrs. Snodgrass used a state chart in illustrating her talk. She showed that the death rate among babies under one year of age is due largely to inability of fathers to have sufficient earning capacity.

Miss Allegra Hawes, newly appointed superintendent of juvenile work for the W. C. T. U. was introduced. Miss Hawes is an assistant juvenile court officer. Mrs. Mary L. Collins, a former county president of the W. C. T. U. who is visiting here from West Virginia made the noonday prayer.

Mrs. Edward Rutallick of Oregon, one of several visiting women attending the meeting, led the afternoon devotions. At this session Mrs. Snodgrass reported a talk she had given at a meeting of a Parent-Teachers' Association in Tippecanoe City which she said was attended by as many fathers as mothers.

Work of the Red Cross was presented by Miss Louise Shaffer the executive secretary. Reports were received from delegates to the state convention. Mrs. Emma Simons, superintendent of the publicity division reported that she had turned in to the state convention eleven yards of newspaper clippings.

Announcement was made by Mrs. Harry Siefert of a talk on Vacation Bible School work to be given by the Rev. Mr. Webber of Bonebrake Seminary, Dayton, next Tuesday at 3:30 in Central High School auditorium. Mrs. William Linton, Bowersville, superintendent of Peace work said she had recommended the peace posters for Sunday Schools.

The following women were guests at the meeting: Mrs. Mabel Hollingsworth and Mrs. Edward Rutallick, Oregon; Mrs. Caroline Swartzell, Waynesville; Mrs. Caroline Rockhill and Mrs. Newton Bunnell of Lebanon.

DEMOCRATS ATTEND COMMITTEE MEETING HELD IN COLUMBUS

Four members of the Greene County Democratic Central and Executive committees attended the noon luncheon of the Ohio Democratic Central Committee which was held at the Southern Hotel, Columbus Tuesday.

The local members attending were: Fred Shellebarger, Osborn; Edward Wood, Xenia, chairman of the executive committee; Mrs. John Ayer and the Rev. A. J. Furstenberger, Xenia.

Over 200 party leaders were present and the gathering proclaimed its belief in the re-election of Governor Vic Donahey. Better organization work was urged for the election of the national ticket.

Officers of the Greene county executive committee said Wednesday that for the benefit of those who might have undue anxiety that the committee will not be able to perform its laborious tasks, that such fears should be banished, as they believe they have the work well in hand.

Announcement was also made that there will not be any county rally in behalf of the national and state tickets because neither of the standard bearers can be here in person. "The committee is in full accord" they said, "with the opinion that all local candidates shall be free to conduct their campaigns in their own way. The candidate for congress in the Seventh district C. K. Wolf, and the Rev. A. J. Furstenberger, candidate for state representative, have the support of the committee in their personal campaigns."

THE GERMAN LOAN

People who have money to loan are always interested in the interest they are able to obtain. And we are sorry to say that many such very foolishly take the word of others or the published statements regarding the stability of the security on which they depend. Hence it is that banks are regarded the best place to keep surplus money, the chances being so few that they will ever fail to be sound, perhaps not one in a hundred.

A very few months ago how few people in the United States would have been willing to invest in German bonds. But in the very proper game of civilizing Europe it has come about that to loan money to nations that are "down and out" is very essential. And queer as it would have seemed twenty years ago, the "little old United States" was the country to step in and do the essential thing, loan the money and guarantee to take over one-half the bonds.

This means that the bankers have satisfied themselves with the adequacy of the security and the marketability of the bonds. It is understood that the bonds will bear a 7 per cent coupon and will be offered at about 92 (because of paying out 92 cents for each dollar this will make the interest 7 3-4 per cent it is said.)

If this is the case, the price certainly is attractive, virtually when countries like Holland are able to borrow in this market on about a 6 per cent basis. The liberal yield is explained, of course, by a lack of enthusiasm over things German that is an aftermath of the war.

As things stand, the bonds will be a first claim on Germany and will be recognized as such by both Germany and the Allies. German pledges herself in unqualified fashion and the Allies declare their intention of giving Germany every chance under the Dawes plan.

Technically, the new bond will be about as strong a one as can be framed. The loan itself is relatively small and the resources pledged are very great. The loan will be so easy for Germany to support and the desirability of supporting it will be so overwhelming that a default seems hardly conceivable.

If one is willing to grant that a reconstruction loan to Germany is a desirable thing, this loan must be admitted to be about as good as could be produced. No pains have been spared to protect the investor. How well he likes the bond we shall soon see.

THE DISCOVERER IS IMPORTANT TOO

Amundsen has come to this country in quest of funds to continue his Arctic explorations. The man who was first to reach the South Pole deserves well of his kind, for he is a scientist as well as a far traveler and his every voyage has made important additions to the store of scientific fact. As Sir Martin Conway said of mountain-climbing, also any one with a stout heart can perform the gymnastic feats of perilous endeavor in strange places. But those who see as they go, who study and observe, are justifying the large expense of fitting out their expeditions. Amundsen's research in desolate places may help to make room for the world's increasing population and diminish the apprehension entertained by those who think our planet in danger of being overcrowded.

THE SCENE SHIFTER THINKS HE IS AS IMPORTANT AS THE PRIMA DONNA

Vienna is a nest not merely of songbirds but of temperaments and now the mechanicians of the Opera House have voted to strike against Richard Strauss and Franz Sehalke because the two renowned conductors would raise the pay of the orchestra and not give more money to the technical personnel. This is not the sole opera house in which the scene shifters and others consider that they are as necessary to the performance as the prima donna or the leader. All the singers have to do is to walk out on the stage and emit bel canto, but the others have the hard work of providing the setting. The conductor merely waves a stick in the air—and that seems a light task compared with setting up tall, heavy wings in a few minutes. But the grandeur of grand opera depends on the harmonious collaboration of artist and artisan.

LITTLE MISS NANNY GOAT

Little Miss Nanny Goat, what will we do
With such a curious glutton like you?
Those little teeth weren't intended to bite
Marks into everything shiny and bright;
That lovely mouth wasn't meant to take in
Ribbons and buttons and cardboard and tin;
Hey, little nanny goat, listen to me,
You mustn't eat everything that you see!

Was there ever a baby so greedy before?
You've chewed at the windows and chewed at the door;
You've eaten the fluff from your blankets of white
And out of the table you've taken a bite;
You've chewed up the tassels your sweater once had,
You worry your mother and worry your dad;
Those little teeth are for cookies and cones
And not for lead pencils and whistles and stones.

Last week your stomach was round as a ball,
Poor little sick girl, you worried us all!
But what did we find was the cause of your scream—
You'd thought your mattress was filled with ice cream;
You'd picked at the stuffing so fluffy and white
And swallowed it down as you played there at night.
Now what in the world are we going to do
With a baby who thinks everything is to chew?

COURT NEWS

WANTS INJUNCTION

Winifred Mason, constable of Xenia Township, has been made defendant in a suit filed by Sid Woolery, in Common Pleas Court asking that the defendant be enjoined from taking a refrigerator away from the plaintiff. A temporary injunction was granted by J. Carl Marshall, probate judge, in the absence of Judge Gowdy. The petition alleges that the plaintiff purchased a refrigerator from the Lagonia Refrigerator Company for $16, and had paid $15 of the amount on the installment plan. The plaintiff claims that the company brought suit against him before J. E. Jones, justice of the peace, for the balance and obtained judgment, the execution being placed in the hands of the defendant, Winifred Mason. The plaintiff declares the defendant in pursuance of the command took possession of the refrigerator. The plaintiff claims to have demanded exemption against the execution and claims the execution was ordered without the authority of the law, as neither the Lagonia Company or the defendant has given the plaintiff part of the purchase price already paid.

The plaintiff claims that he had paid more than twenty-five per cent of the contract price. C. W. Whitmer is attorney for the plaintiff.

SUES COMPETITOR

The Wabash Portland Cement Company has filed suit against the Southwestern Portland Cement Company in Common Pleas Court, asking that the defendant be restrained from carrying artificial water to a certain ditch in Bath Township for the construction of which many of the adjacent property holders had been assessed for money. The Southwestern Company had not helped pay for the construction of the ditch. Ad asking that on the final hearing of the case, that the defendant be enjoined from conveying the artificial water from its manufacturing plant to the ditch.

The Southwestern Company had previously asked the County Commissioners, according to the petition for permission to run its water through the adjoining ditch, but had received a refusal from the commissioners, who declared that the water was injurious and was artificial. Marcus Shoup is attorney for the plaintiff.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Today's Talks

ALL'S WELL

We need to be kept reassured. There must have been something very reassuring about the old watchman of bygone days when he used to call out in the silence of the night: "All's well!"

I have a friend who did only half his best because he imagined that he had something serious the matter with his stomach. He went to a doctor who told him that his stomach was perfectly normal and healthy. The diagnosis made all the difference in the world. A new smile appeared upon my friend's face and the sun came out upon his work again.

Chauncey Depew gave an interesting talk to his friends upon entering his ninetieth year. He said that the middle part of the road was the place to keep. He remarked that he never got excited over changes, new things, radical suggestions. He had lived to see that all things work out for good and he advised a calm attitude of mind. He said not to worry, to "keep appetite within healthy limits and place no boundaries against friends." He advised against extremes.

No wonder that with the advancing of the years this genial human being always heard the: "All's well." Just think how happy you would grow if at the end of each day, before you closed your eyes in sleep, you could hear that silent voice saying: "All's well."

Fear would scamper away. The mind would be clear and your whole attitude toward life would be recharged with health and hope.

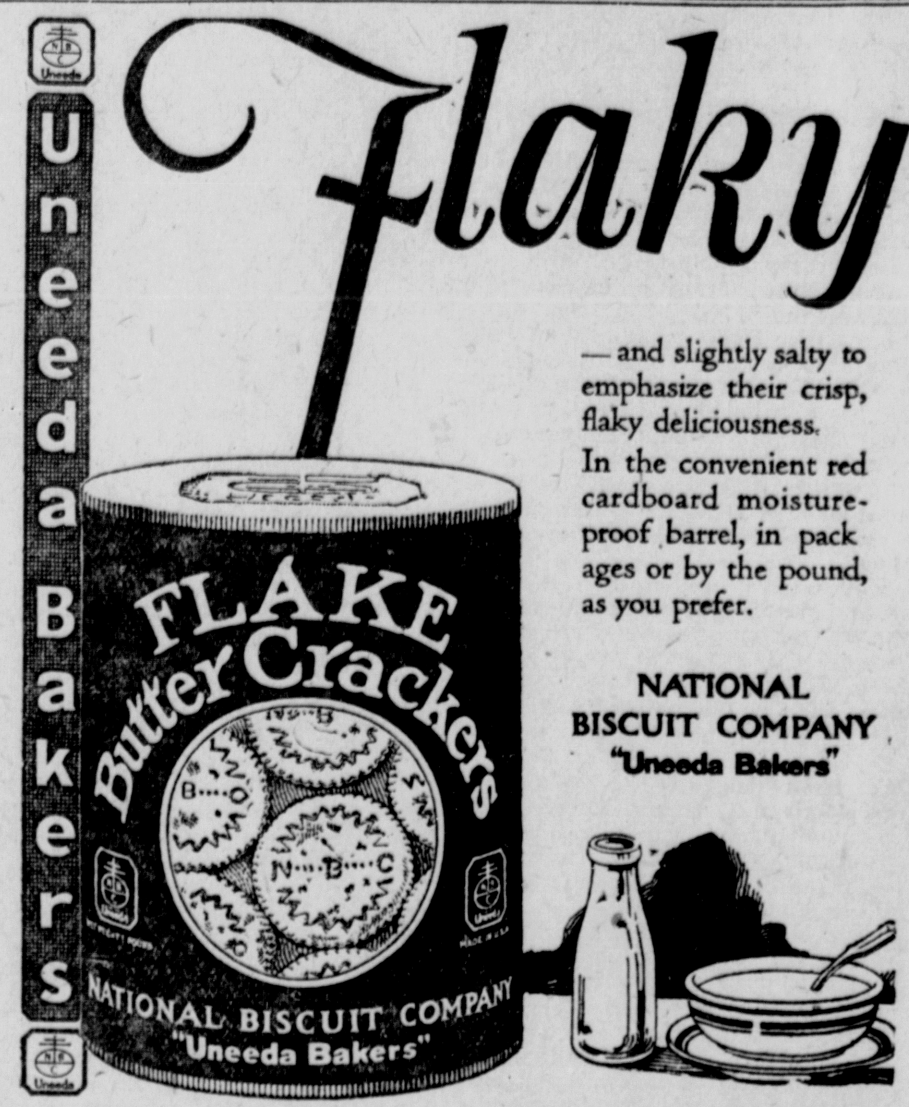

As you go to the work of the day with this "All's well" thought fresh in your mind, just consider what a small thing it is to feel, what a big thing to have.

There are only a few essentials that matter, after all. Simplify your life. Do only those things which you are sure you can do better than anyone else. Even the deepest disappointment will pass. Therefore magnify the smallest happiness.

And look the other way when you walk past failure!

DEMAND FOR ABSENT VOTERS' BALLOTS

A number of voters who expect to be away from the city at the time of the November election, are making use of the absent voters' ballots according to Earl Short, clerk of the Board of Elections, who says he had mailed twenty ballots to various citizens within the past two days, although there have been no calls at the clerk's office in the Court House for the slips.

All voters who apply for ballots by mail and wish the ballots sent to them must have their residence on the application in order that it may be known in what precinct they vote, and must also include their present address so that the ballots may reach them.

The first licensed voter to make use of the ballots in Greene County was John Wright, son of Deputy Probate Judge S. C. Wright.

Is your wife wiser than you?

IF YOU read only the stock and sporting pages, and your wife is like other women, she is wiser than you. She reads the shopping news.

She likes to hear you jingle money in your pockets. She likes to stretch money to the limit, so she won't have to ask for more. She likes to shop strategically. Know what she does.

Comfortably at home in a cushiony armchair, she scans advertising columns. She compares, judges and selects the goods she desires; maps her route; with least effort and minimum time, goes direct to the planned store and buys.

She obtains what she wants at the lowest price it is offered. She is certain of full satisfaction, for she knows advertised goods live up to their claims. She saves time and steps, and returns sufficiently alert to enjoy new advertisements—and to prepare you an appetizing dinner.

These advertisements are written for your benefit too. Read them. Help her help you save.

SELF DEFENSE SERIES, No. 3. INTL.

Ed "Strangler" Lewis, world's champion heavyweight wrestler, continues today his series of illustrated articles intended to show women how to protect themselves from thugs and maulers. The woman grabs her assailant's left arm with both of her hands. Using her right hand as a brace underneath the arm and close to the wrist, she bears down sharply and quickly with her left. If the hold is taken with rapidity, it will snap the assailant's wrist, as well as cause excruciating agony. At the moment the leverage is applied, the woman stamps her heel on the thug's toes, adding to his discomfiture. Remember always that speed, not strength, is essential.

RORY O'CONNOR & KEVIN O'HIGGINS.

When the Irish revolt against English rule waged fiercest Kevin O'Higgins and Rory O'Connor fought side by side and were friends. When the Free State was recognized O'Higgins became Home Minister in the Cabinet. O'Connor joined the de Valeristas and revolted against his office he was informed that he was the sole heir to O'Connor's estate who headed the rebels who seized the Four Courts in Dublin, which the Free State regained only after pitched battle, but even then O'Higgins and O'Connor were friends. O'Connor was sentenced to die, and it was O'Higgins alone who could save him. With tears in his eyes, O'Higgins listened to pleas for his friend's life; then, believing he did his duty, he signed the death warrant. All night he sat alone in his office praying for his doomed friend. In the morning when they told him O'Connor would die—for O'Connor was his friend. Colonial Minister Thomas, of the British Labor Cabinet, tells the sequel. When O'Higgins, still grieving over the fate of the friend he had sent to death, returned to his office he was informed that he was the sole heir to O'Connor's estate under a will the doomed man made just before he faced the firing squad.

REPUBLICAN RALLY FRIDAY PROMISES 3 GOOD SPEECHES

Republican supporters in Greene County are anticipating one of the most successful Republican rally meetings held in the county for several years Friday afternoon at the Opera House when three speakers of national state renown, two of whom are residents of Greene County, will appear on the platform to give speeches.

United States Senator S. D. Fess, of Yellow Springs, probably one of the best known speakers in the country today, will give a diversified talk on various national issues. Senator Fess has been touring the country in behalf of the Republican party, but will come to this city Friday according to a telegram to that effect received Monday by L. T. Marshall, chairman of the Republican Executive committee. Senator Fess has been in Chicago for several days.

Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College will make his maiden political speech Friday. Dr. McChesney has never before made a political address, but has realized the dangers of the third party movement in the state and with the high aim of upholding the constitution and opposing the LaFollette movement, has consented to address Greene County Republicans Friday.

The third speaker on the program is State Attorney General C. C. Crabbe, who will continue his statewide campaign with an address here Friday. Mr. Crabbe is the Republican nominee for re-election to the office of attorney general, and will devote his remarks entirely to state issues.

A meeting of the county Republican Central and Executive Committees will be held in the Assembly Room of the Court House at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon previous to the meeting at the Opera House, for the purpose of making plans for the continuance of the county campaign.

The Company L Band will escort the speakers to the Opera House and will of this the music preceding the meeting.

PETER WITT WILL SPEAK IN XENIA

Peter Witt of Cleveland, member of the Cleveland city council and chairman of the Ohio Conference for Progressive Political Action will speak in Xenia Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Greene County LaFollette Club.

Mr. Witt was for many years friend and chief aide of the late Tom L.

Johnson, former mayor of Cleveland. He has been prominently identified with reform and liberal political movements. He is nationally known as an authority on street railway problems and is a student of governmental problems. He was a leading figure in the Cleveland convention July 4 which nominated LaFollette and Wheeler on the Independent Progressive ticket.

XENIA IS LAUDED FOR CELEBRATION OF DEFENSE DAY

Xenia is listed as one of the seven cities in the state with a population of less than 300,000 that celebrated National Defense Test Day, on September 12, in a fitting fashion, in a bulletin issued by the 33rd division of Infantry and received recently by C. L. Darlington, who acted as Greene County chairman, in the county observance of Defense Day.

The bulletin, in commenting upon the results of the nation-wide observance of the day, said that the best results were obtained in the smaller cities, such as Xenia, Piqua, and others where the celebration could be more general.

The bulletin also mentioned that the first observance fortunately occurred in a presidential election year, and accorded the almost unanimous support of the candidates seeking offices, although there was also much argument "pro and con" as to whether the defense celebration was in accordance with the peace movement. Defense Day proved conclusively, according to the bulletin that the people entered wholeheartedly into the spirit of preparedness.

"MRS. AND MR. POLLY TICKK" WEDNESDAY AT OPERA HOUSE HERE

The sale of tickets for the musical comedy, "Mrs. and Mr. Polly Tickk," to be presented at the Xenia Opera House Wednesday and Thursday evenings by the Aldora Chapter of the O. E. S. is going fine according to reports from the ticket committee.

In 1975 a sign on the door or window saying "Gent's Furnishings" won't mean anything for in 1975 the women will be buying knickers, felt hats, wearing collars and ties. The only thing they aren't wearing are the men's trousers and it may come to that! Behold the gentleman's wardrobe in 1975.

Fashion decrees:
A top coat of brilliant plaid splashed with all colors. Old rose lining and neatly bound.

A clever little Fedora with that careless flare and a little bit of ribbon that goes to make the chic in one's headgear.

Shirts will be of delicate tints and edged with bits of lace and pearl buttons.

The neck line for the coming year will be oval with soft dainty frills of net or georgette to soften the features and take away the harsh severity of the more womanish shirt.

Earrings, pearl buttons on spats will also be worn. One item that must not be overlooked to complete one's wardrobe is the bit of lace and material that goes to make up the kerchief.

Bushnell Turner plays Mr. Polly Tickk, the insignificant lesser half. Mrs. J. C. Denham is cast as Mrs. Polly Tickk; Sullivan O'Brien is portrayed by Harry Kiernan and Mr. Kiernan also plays the part of Father Time in the prologue. Robert Owens as Billy Lawson does not agree with the men when it comes to wearing spit curls and fish-hoot curls on the forehead. Miss Anne Shenck plays the part of Daisy Anne Gray, Billy's sweetheart; Mrs. Claude Lynn is cast as Senator Zella Highbrow from Oklahoma who says that the only way to keep the streets clean is to keep the men off them. Other characters and members of the choruses are working out splendidly. Cast in the chorus are: Thelma Jordan, Elizabeth Alexander, Helen Reutinger, Juanita Butz, Anna Lee Moore, Dorothy Bocklett, Letha King, Marjorie Harner.

You Go What You Want, You Don't Want It." "Heap Big Suffragette." Musical numbers include: "After 'Girls of 1850'; "Say It With Flowers;" "Since Mother Was a Girl," and others.

Miss Anne Shenck, director from The Wayne P. Sewell Lyceum Company Atlanta, Ga., has charge of the show. The company is the same as that which presented "The Microbe of Love" here two years ago.

The orchestra accompanying the show is composed of Miss Lucille Denham, piano; Miss Irene Parrett, violin; Don Weaver, violin; Victor Weaver, saxophone; Perry Swindler and Jack Eaves, banjos. Admission prices are: balcony 50 cents, not re-

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. REPORT OF SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE SHOWS WORK DONE

Fifty-two families were reached during September by the relief department of the Social Service League, according to a report given at the Monday night meeting. The greatest amount expended for this service for one family was $23, which included cost of groceries, milk, medicines and food for a sick baby and an undernourished child. In the family it was announced the father is broken in health often being unable to work for several weeks at a time, and much of the time able to work only a few days each week. Clothing and shoes were furnished to a school boy in this family, which includes seven persons. In some cases, only a few cents worth of clothing was furnished.

Cases of distress in the families aided, the report shows, included illness, of either father or mother, widows with children to support, sick babies, accidents, parental neglect, old age, paralysis, part time employment, death, blindness, domestic disagreements and separations.

Food in stock which had been donated to the League, was given out. It was valued at $8.40. Value for other goods donated and given out was as follows: household equipment $12.60; groceries $13.50; clothing and shoes, $8.90; milk, $44.80; medicine and baby food $8.50.

The League wishes to thank the many persons and organizations which made donations during the month.

An interesting report of the work of the baby clinic during the month was given by Mrs. H. A. Hoffman.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Charles Adair and Mrs. George I. Graham for their untiring interest and assistance to Dr. H. C. Messenger in making the Kiwanis baby clinic a success during the summer.

Miss Jennie Moffett public health nurse for the League, gave a report showing a very busy and successful month in public health nursing. She made 166 visits, general nursing, friendly, educational and business. Trips were made to Dayton and Springfield hospitals by the nurse in the interest of Xenia patients, in co-operation with Xenia physicians.

The nurse reported a number of interesting cases, including one of a baby saved from blindness through receiving prompt attention.

HIS CONSCIENCE TROUBLED HIM

"I know I have done wrong, please forgive me for not doing my duty and writing you before. I am thankful to God and the good remedy He gave you, and would not take $500 for the good the first dose gave me. I have been bothered for many years with gas in my stomach and indigestion, but since taking Mayr's Wonderful Remedy two years ago, have had no such trouble." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sayre & Hemphill, and druggists everywhere.

OHIO A Manufacturing State

OHIO is proud of its manufacturing. Only two other states, New York and Pennsylvania, surpass it in the value and diversity of its manufactured products.

An army of nearly 1,000,000 people, or enough to constitute a city almost as large as greater Cleveland, is engaged in this work of production.

Ohio has twenty-two cities in each of which the annual value of manufactured products exceeds twenty million dollars.

Our state is ideally situated, being just west of the Appalachians, between lake and river. The excellent water transportation was early appreciated while roadbeds seem to have been specially prepared by nature for the great railway systems which cover the state and furnish connection with all parts of the nation.

Ohio's manufacturing plants are constantly increasing and in order to keep pace with this expansion, The Ohio Bell Telephone Company is spending $60,000,000 in the next five years for extensions and improvements of its lines. As the state and its industries grow so must the telephone system which serves them.

VOTERS WILL HAVE PLENTY OF BALLOTS TO MARK AT POLLS

Xenia voters will be handed four ballots for their consideration at the regular election in November.

Indications are that the count of the vote will be slow and tedious work, on account of the large number of candidates and contemplated tax levy issues on the ballots, according to Earl Short, clerk of the election board. Voters should have their minds made up before entering the booths, else they will probably be at a loss as to how to dispose of the four slips of paper.

Decisions must be made on the two mill tax levy for Miami Township school district West, on the Cadaville Village two mill tax levy for lighting purposes, and the Jamestown Village school district two mill tax levy which includes part of Silver creek Township, school district.

The Greene County Road levy ballot includes part of Silvercreek Township, be handed voters, and is for the purpose of constructing, maintaining and repairing county roads for a length of time not to exceed five years.

The second ballot, the national or presidential ballot, comprises representatives of five parties who wish to qualify in the capacity of presidential electors. Four parties, the Democratic, Republican, Independent-Progressive, and Commonwealth-Land groups, have entered full slates of twenty-four candidates, while the Socialist-Labor party has about fifteen candidates for the electoral jobs.

The judicial ballot contains fifteen candidates for five vacancies on various court benches. Five of the candidates seek a regular term on the state supreme court bench, where two vacancies must be filled. There are two aspirants for the short term on the bench. Two candidates seek the judgeship of the Court of Appeals where there is but one vacancy, while the last race is for the position of Probate Judge in Greene County.

All parties are represented on the state ticket with the exception of the Independent-Progressive group, making four parties that are represented in the race for state, district and county offices on a separate ballot. Eighteen Republicans and twelve Democrats complete the ticket for state offices. The Commonwealth-Land party and the Socialist-Labor group have six candidates for the different state offices.

WORK ON TOBACCO STEMMERY WILL BE COMPLETED SOON

Remodeling work on the Xenia Stemmery, branch factory of the American Cigar Company, began several months ago, has been virtually completed, the stemmery department having been moved back to the main building which has been undergoing repairs.

Stemmery work has been going ahead regardless of the repair work on the building and the entire department has been moved over into a vacant warehouse until completion of the work.

In addition to repairing the walls of the building, cement floors were laid, and new lighting and heating systems put in. The lighting system is already working, while the heat was scheduled to be turned on Tuesday.

In addition to the repairs, a bridge has been constructed connecting the stemmery building with the warehouse used for the storage of boxes of stemmed tobacco, which simplifies the matter of transporting the boxes to the warehouse, as the only former method of transportation was by elevator to the ground floor, and then to the warehouse.

The bridge is built over the branch railway tracks.

McCurran Bros., are contractors for the work, and when completely finished, the stemmery will be one of the most modern factories in the city.

The Truant Soul

By Victor Rousseau

"I let him see I wouldn't stand for any language like that, and I reckon he understood, even if I didn't have to say much," remarked the dark-haired girl to Joan Wentworth. "It doesn't seem to have occurred to Doctor Lancaster yet that a nurse is a human being under her uniform."

"If he'd treat us half as nicely as he treats some of his lady friends," she added, in a suggestive tone that changed into the accentuation of ordinary speech under Joan's discouraging look. "I've seen him driving them round town nights in his auto, and I've never seen the same one twice. I guess he takes it out on us when they've been mean to him."

Joan did not answer her. She was watching the head surgeon as he came into the operating theater. At his entrance the general buzz of conversation ceased, as if the outpouring of words had been cut off with a knife. The students on the benches settled themselves in their places and craned their heads forward intently. The two assistant surgeons, Ivers and MacPherson, assumed attitudes of constraint, for everybody was constrained in Lancaster's presence. The orderly, who had been peering through the crack of the swinging door into the anesthetic room, where the head nurse was holding the patient's wrist and watching the face beneath the mask intently, straightened himself and stood up in military fashion. Only the visiting doctors seemed at their ease as they advanced to shake hands with John Lancaster.

They had come from several neighboring cities, drawn by the news that Lancaster was to perform his famous operation of arterial excision, which was just then the subject of discussion in the medical press. Plenty of surgeons had tried to remove a section of one of the larger blood vessels, but only Lancaster had succeeded in bringing down the mortality to 15 per cent.

Lancaster was something of a mystery both to his colleagues and to the nursing staff. The Lancaster fund supported the Southern hospital, and John Lancaster was firmly established at the head of the institution. The board of guardians, which existed according to the terms laid down in his father's will, had apparently only an advisory capacity, and it was supple and plastic in Lancaster's hands. And John Lancaster was more feared and admired than any doctor in the country.

Feared by most for his tyranny, admired by a very few on account of his extraordinary skill, he seemed to have a dual personality. The man whose fast life was the scandal of the conservative little southern seaport, who was ostracized by the better families, whose infrequent appearances in the hospital were usually the occasion for injustice, storms and dismissals, changed in the operating theater into a man whose gentleness and humility and skill made him adored for the time by all who came into contact with him. But it was only rarely that a case occurred that required his attention.

On such occasions his manner was in itself remarkable. He would slip stealthily into his private room, dress there, and emerge masked like a mummy to perform his miracle almost in silence, and afterward to make his escape in a way suggestive of his having performed some shameful action.

So much Joan Wentworth had heard. Naturally she watched his entrance on this, her first day of surgical work, with absorbed interest. But Lancaster came in unmasked, and Joan could discern nothing humble or secretive in the self-satisfied face or the brisk manner in which he greeted the visiting surgeons.

He looked a man of seven or eight and thirty, and he bore his years heavily. The eyes were lined and a little sunken; the features, which Joan had seen only a few times during her eighteen months of work at the hospital, exercised, as they had always done, a rather repellent effect upon the girl. The face was eminently cruel and hard. Nevertheless the man obviously dominated the assembly.

He dominated her. She was much more afraid of some nervous lapse in Lancaster's presence than of seeing the use of the knife. The hissing of the steam tank, the nervous movements of the spectators upon the benches, whose heads seemed to swing with a uniform and rhythmic motion, the deepening sense of constraint, acted upon her with a sort of hypnotic effect not lessened by Lancaster's decisive manner.

She pulled the tray of instruments out of the boiling water and set it down upon the table by the side of the bichloride solution. Lancaster, who had been pulling on his rubber gloves, came to her side and plunged both hands into the antiseptic fluid. There was a look of self-conscious satisfaction upon his face, and Joan thought that every gesture and each movement was designed to impress the visitors. Presently she became sure of it. The man was acting. A feeling of disgust came over her.

Lancaster cast a quick glance at Joan.

"New nurse?" he asked.

"My first morning of surgical work, Doctor Lancaster," she answered.

He grunted in a contemptuous sort of way. Joan flushed to the hair. He turned to the other girl.

"You there!" he shouted. "Look alive with those sponges!" And he cast a quick glance toward the visitors, as if to see whether they appreciated his harshness.

A look of chagrin came over the dark-haired girl's face, but she ran to obey and dropped the wet sponges into the bichloride with shaking fingers. At the same moment the swing door opened and the stretcher with the patient appeared, wheeled by the orderly. Behind it walked the head nurse, still maintaining her crouching attitude as she moved. The stretcher stopped inside the theater, and the head nurse and orderly lifted the man who lay upon it on the glass table.
